hello, i am aaryan.

i am from gurugram, india. i am a business student, doing my bachelors in business administration. i am also a self taught web developer. i created an enterprise resource planner at the age of 17, using laravel & tailwind.

personal profile

i am aaryan kapoor, a hardworking & optimistic being. i like marketing & design, + programming. i am self taught, and have been working on freelance projects since 9th grade. this has enabled me to gain extra skills and access to biz world.

skills & interests

my education has helped me inculcate various marketing strategies, human resource management, & business enterprise analysis.

i have developed several self taught skills over my schooling years which now come a lot in handy. many of these include graphic design [illustrator], web dev [php, js, rust & sql], tooling [git, nodejs, composer, cargo, nodejs]. i also contribute in open source projects.

apart from those, dealing with various clients around the globe has helped me a lot in developing communication, problem solving & thinking abilities.

sometimes, i might show up wearing sunglasses which means, i've haven't slept the previous night.
